

Build a Foundation

Give us one week in 2009.

Churches are traditionally the foundation of Habitat for Humanity. Since 1991, we've relied on local churches to provide lunches, volunteers and financial support to help us build homes and hope for local families.

This year, we are asking churches to continue to build a foundation of support for us by getting involved in a variety of ways.

Will your church sign up for one week?

What does this support look like?

We understand that every church is unique in its skill sets, availability, budget and number of members who are interested and able to help. Therefore, we want you to choose how your church can help. We have identified 10 ways that your churches can get involved with us.

We have identified tasks that can involve everyone in your congregation, from children to seniors.

How do we sign up or get more information?

Fill out the following registration form and we will get back to you to schedule your week, provide additional information, and answer any questions that you may have.

If every church in our community helps us for one week, even in a small way, it will have an immense impact on our build projects. Please consider how your church can build homes and hope for families in our community.
